Purchasing Titles.

The engagement of Miss Katherine Elkins, daughter of Senator Stephen B. Elkins, multimillionaire, to the Duke of the Abruzzi relative of the King of Italy and a possible heir to the throne, is expected. The marriage will take place if the Duke can secure the consent of his royal relative and if Senator Elkins is willing to pay enough.

The disgusting details of how much was paid the Duke and how the King had to be persuaded to allow his relative to marry an ordinary American girl will be published in the daily press.

How any girl with any pride or self respect can, for an empty title, allow her name to be connected with such proceedings is beyond us? Why a father will furnish the money to purchase an empty headed son-in-law has never been answered.

The only good thing about the marriage of American girls to foreigners with a title and poverty is that it is a good means of distributing large fortunes. The titled foreigner who marries an American heiress is always capable of doing one thing well and that is to spend the fortune amassed by his father-in-law.

Candidate for Judge.

Judge S. W. Durlinger, of London, one of the Common Pleas Judges of this judicial district, was in Hillsboro this week seeking support in his candidacy for renomination on the Republican judicial ticket, which is to be named by the convention which meets at Washington C. H. on April 9. The judge feels very well pleased with the assurance of support he is receiving from many parts of the district, and yet he realizes that there will be at least one other name, and perhaps more, presented to the convention, in addition to his own, as a candidate. He will have a solid, industrious delegation from his own county, Madison, who will be at the convention with the sole purpose of nominating him and a good associate. The friends of Judge Durlinger advance the following grounds in support of his candidacy:

The district composed of Highland, Ross, Pickaway, Fayette and Madison counties has, since 1893, had four judges. This means that one county is always without a resident judge. The term the judge is just completing is the only one credited to Madison, since the present sub-division of the Fifth Judicial district was created. Ross, Highland and Pickaway have each had a resident judge since 1893, and Fayette has had two full terms. Madison has yet not a full term, and it would look as though Judge Durlinger's nomination and election would, in a measure, equalize the terms among the five counties with four judges. They further argued that a renomination is due Judge Durlinger under the party rule of rewarding the office holder, who has served one term with a renomination. This has been followed consistently in the judicial nominations in this district, and it would seem that it would be unjust to break it in this instance.

The street exposition is a "good thing, push it along." Money and work are the proper means.

MUTUAL BURIAL SOCIETIES

Given a Hard Blow by Law Enacted the Past Week.

The mutual burial association of Ohio were practically given their death blow last Friday when the legislature passed the Ward bill. All that continue will be compelled to entirely change their manner of doing business. Under the new law there can be no official undertaker for an association and all benefits must be paid in cash to the family of the deceased. Besides they will be regulated the same as insurance companies and must make regular reports to the superintendent of insurance, showing all benefits paid, expenses and surplus.

The Hillsboro Mutual Burial Association has a membership of over 2,000 and has been in operation about five years. The members pay 12 cents for adults and 6 cents for a child. The funeral arrangements are conducted by the association which is obligated to furnish an $80 outfit. W. W. Roble is secretary of the local association and states that they expect to continue and will pay the death benefits in cash as the new law provides.

An Autograph Cook Book.

A gift suitable to any time of the year, original, home made, one that will bring joy to any housewife's heart, is described in the April Woman's Home Companion. Have you ever thought of making an autograph cook book? It only requires a little care and patience to have a cook book filled full of original recipes of dishes fit for a king.

First make a list of your intimate friends. Those noted for their good cooking and housewifely virtues of course should head the list. Write to each of them a personal note, asking them to write out and send to you their favorite recipe. In each note enclose a stamped envelope with a sheet of paper of uniform size for the written recipe. Then wait.

Presently in will come whole flocks of white envelopes, each inclosing the recipe which is the particular pride of the particular housewife who donates it. And before long what a collection you will have! When all the names have been accounted for, you must get to work and bind the sheets into a book. Vellum makes a good cover, and if a more serviceable one is desired, loose leather, purchased at a leather shop, may be used. Red leather, lettered in gold or black, looks well, and the initials of the lucky recipient should be added in one corner. Just see what delight this gift will bring, and you will, I am sure, feel amply repaid.

Getting Even.

"No, I don't believe in expensive practical jokes," said a San Francisco business man, "except by way of retaliation."

Now last year I received a telegram from a friend who was traveling in Italy. It came collect and cost me seven dollars; and when I opened it all I read was "Thank you, I am well."

Then I sallied forth and sought me out a cobblerstone—a nice, large cobblerstone weighing about eleven pounds and I wrapped it in excelsior, pink cotton and white paper, and I boxed it up in a handsome box; and I sent it by express, collect, to my facetious friend far across the bounding billows.

And when he had paid his little fifteen dollars, and had opened the box in St. Petersburg, if I remember rightly, he found in addition to the precious contents a note from me explaining, "This is the load that rolled off my heart on receipt of the news of your good health."—Woman's Home Companion for April.

Medium—And now you can hear your husband knocking. Do you really believe it is he?

Widow—I do, indeed. John was the biggest knocker in seven states.—Chicago News.

RAINSBORO.

March 23, '08.

W. J. Redkey and H. W. Roads spent a couple of days last week in Cincinnati returning Thursday.

Miss Mary Baker, one of the efficient hello girls at the Bell exchange spent last week visiting friends at Greenfield.

Misses Ault have moved to their property adjoining the M. E. church and Wm. Kearns from near Greenfield has taken charge of their farm.

Rev. D. Lee Aultman presiding elder of the Hillsboro district will preach in the M. E. church here on Tuesday night of this week.

Charles Lucas, of Marshall, spent Wednesday night here the guest of Elsie Beaver.

The Ladies Aid Society will hold a literary meeting at the home of Mrs. Louisa Baker on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Ora Upp, of Greenfield, was looking after business interest here last Friday.

John Caldwell, of the vicinity of Paint, has moved to his property in the eastern part of town.

The third quarterly meeting of the M. E. church will be held at Boston Wednesday of this week.

J. E. Upp has sold the farm where he lives to Todd Roads and is arranging to build on his remaining farm as soon as possible.

C. A. West is erecting a large barn on his farm just south of our village.

Quite a number of persons gathered here last Friday to hear the suit between Mrs. Julia A. Skeen and her daughter over the ownership of a cow but the interested parties decided on a compromise and the case was dismissed.

The Red Men wish me to announce that seats will be reserved in the front of the hall for children under 12 years of age who will be admitted free at their entertainment on Saturday night of this week. General admission 25c. and all seats reserved.

Rev. J. H. Davis closed a successful series of meetings at Carmel Sunday night.

Aunt Maria Davis, a highly respected colored lady in the western part of the township, died last Tuesday at the age of 127 according to the most reliable information at hand. She was an ex-slave and is remembered by people who are advanced in years as being an old woman when they were children.

For a number of years she has made her home with her granddaughter, Mrs. Pete Minor, who has cared for her with all the tenderness that her age and infirmities demanded. The funeral was held at the late home on Thursday and the body was laid to rest in the Stringtown cemetery.

M. B. Park, of Hillsboro, spent Thursday looking after the interest of his farm.

Earl Carter was making some repairs on a barn door the past week when the knife he was using slipped and cut a gash in his hand that required the services of a physician. He is doing fine now but doesn't care to whittle any more.

The McNary store is closed this week for the purpose of invoicing. Frank Pearce, of New Petersburg, Leslie Parrish, of Carmel, and F. S. Spargur, of this place, are doing the invoicing and the stock of goods will be for sale as soon as it is completed.

The last musical entertainment of the season was given at the home of George Free on last Thursday night by the Snake Corner Orchestra. Father Hays first violin, Herbert Barrett second violin, Misses Edna Barrett and Goldie Winegar pianists and Tommy Barrett bass violin. About thirty guests were present and spent a very pleasant evening.

The Blue and the Gray.

Geo. W. Eakins, who served in Co. G 175 O. V. I., in the Civil war has a photograph of George L. Cowen, of Franklin, Tenn. Mr. Eakins and his brother, with 24 others under the command of Lieut. William Barrere, were captured at Reynold's Station by confederates under the command of Mr. Cowen, Nov. 25, 1864. Mr. Eakins when in Tennessee last summer met Mr. Cowen by accident and learned that he was the man who captured him at that time. He and his brother are the only survivors of the 24th who surrendered that day.

A RECORD BREAKER.

Last year's Sales of Hy-o-mei, the Guaranteed Cure for Catarrh, Larger Than Ever.

The merits of Hyomel (the treatment that cures catarrh without stomach dosing) its popularity and growth, are unique in the annals of medicine. So pronounced is the relief and cure following the use of this treatment that it has been publicly recommended by leading druggists and physicians in nearly every state and town in the country, with the result that last year's sales were larger than ever.

The fact that Hyomel is so simple and complete, and that it cures by breathing medicated air and not taking drugs into the stomach, no doubt has helped to create this widespread and rapidly increasing army of friends.

The way in which it has been sold by W. R. Smith & Co. has undoubtedly aided greatly its introduction in Hillsboro. They are such firm believers in the power of Hyomel to cure all catarrhal troubles, that they urge people to use it with the understanding that the cost will be refunded to anyone who is not benefited by the treatment. You do not risk a cent in testing the healing virtues of Hyomel, for W. R. Smith & Co. take all the risk of its giving satisfaction and leave you to be the judge.
